We are Cutting Pack

In 1993, a concrete and innovative entrepreneurial project took shape, born from the desire to enhance technical skills and knowledge acquired in the world of flexible packaging. It was a path built over time, drawing on a wealth of experience developed within specialized companies in the sector.

It all began under the name Sava Alluminio Veneto S.p.A. (part of the Alusuisse Group), where the extraordinary versatility of thin aluminum foil was first discovered. The journey continued with Aluberg S.p.A., a specialist in coated and laminated semi-finished products, and Aluprint S.p.A., a reference point in printed and embossed aluminum. Each stage helped refine our understanding of the technical and aesthetic potential of the material.

Key experience was also gained at Flex Service S.p.A., where multilayer laminates made of aluminum, polyester, and polyethylene opened up new possibilities, and at Von Roll Isola S.p.A., which allowed us to explore the use of aluminum and plastic films in technical applications and electrical insulation. All of these competencies came together with the founding of Cutting Pack, with one clear goal: to become a benchmark in Italy in the field of flexible packaging and technical applications. From day one, our mission has never been to simply supply materials, but to deliver tailor-made, integrated solutions built on a foundation of constant and personalized consultancy with each and every client.

Behind every solution,
experience.
Within every project,
passion.
